George,
Thanks for the update and alleviating my concerns,

Harvey

Good Afternoon Mr. Morginstin,

Thank you for contacting the EPA with your concerns on the surface of the on-going RM10.9 work!

I just talked to Ms. Jeniffer LaPoma who informed me that the last layer of the sand/habitat layer cap is now in place and the area is now safe for vessels. Jennifer will be contacting you and will provide updated photographs of the area.

Have a nice evening,

George,

I took these pictures today at the 10.9 site. My understanding is that the job will be finished, maybe next week.

The condition of the surface has been changed from smooth silt and mud to sharp rocks. The will cause extensive damage to any vessel that happens to hit bottom when the tide is higher.

Please advise if you plan to correct this situation.
